

THE COVENANT NATION

My Daily Confessions of Faith

I declare the Lord is my Shepherd; He has placed within me His kingdom, His eternal treasure that makes all things possible to me.

I have no fear about my future for the events of my life are arranged by God and the lines have fallen unto me in pleasant places.

I constantly enter into His tabernacle to worship Him regardless of appearances or how I feel. He continuously manifests His shekinah glory to my mind, guiding and instructing me. My obedience has led to endless and unplanned supernatural breakthroughs in my life beyond my personal goals or anything I could have imagined.

I declare according to the law of God that everyday and in every way things are getting better.

This inner image which I see within me about my career/job, family (spouse and children), finances, health, is the anchor to my soul both sure and steadfast. I feel the joy of its fulfillment in my heart.

I am enthusiastic about my life and I develop the momentum to succeed because all things no matter how they appear are working for my good.

I make right choices in all I do. I meet with people that enrich me and sharpen me for my goals in my heart.

I courageously face and conquer obstacles in my path of fulfilling my set goals.

I give and so make provisions in the heavens for the realization of these goals. Since the heavens rule the earth, I experience open doors as a result of my giving.

Divine helpers show up on my path at critical moments pushing me into greater heights.

Therefore, by the end of the year - the 31st of December 2021, the following things have happened in my life and I am in tangible possession of (Put your goals. Must not be many. Principal goals for these areas of your life. They must be definite and specific)
